HALE AND WELL AT 74

Mr. George W. Tift, of Troy, N. Y., cured of a heavy cold that settled on his lungs by Father John's Medicine.

A heavy cold settled on my lungs and throat. My lungs swelled and I was sick all over. I used remedies usually given in such cases, but with little benefit. Then I tried Father John's Medicine. A few doses had so good an effect that I kept on and was made well and strong. I have not had a cough or cold since, although 74 years of age. I think it is a grand medicine for all complaints. It is recommended for every family. Should keep it in the house. (Signed) Geo. W. Tift, 787 River street, Troy, N. Y.

Father John's Medicine prevents Pneumonia and Consumption and cures all throat and lung troubles. Builds you up and renews your strength. No alcohol or poisonous drugs. Cures colds or money back.

The housekeeper who has occasion to cook in small quantities will find a divided lid a great convenience for her store or range. This lid is made up of a series of rings fitted together so that any one part may be lifted out, leaving a very small, medium or large opening. A small dish may be set within the small opening, thus getting direct heat and cooking its contents much more quickly. If there are kettles or cookers which are too small for the usual opening made by the lid, a narrow rim which will set just inside the opening may be purchased and will prevent many accidents from tipping utensils. Either the sectional lid or the narrow rim may be had from your store dealer. P. D. Ginn.

For nosebleeding hold the head, face and neck with cold water. To stop the bleeding of a bad cut apply finely powdered rice or flour to the wound.

The juice of an orange in a cup of hot water taken before breakfast is grateful and good for indigestion and constipation.

In fevers give food that is most easily digested. Milk, which contains all the food principles, is the best special diet for fevers.

A flaxseed poultice should be applied to an inflaming toe nail to reduce the inflammation. After that more heroic measures can be resorted to.

The fumes of burnt camphor will instantly relieve a cold in the head. Put a piece of camphor the size of an egg in an old saucer. Set it on fire, and after burning a few moments blow out the flames and inhale the fumes.

Remarkable Record.

To have gone round the world five times preaching, and to have addressed, through interpreters, men and women speaking 137 different dialects and languages, is the remarkable record achieved by the American woman preacher, Miss Jessie Ackerman. Commencing her itinerary at the age of twenty-four, Miss Ackerman, traveling without escort, has spoken in South America, South Africa, Australasia, India, Japan, China, Korea and Siberia. The miners of Mexico and Alaska were preached to at the bottom of the mines. In Iceland, the legislative body accorded the woman missionary a public reception. Miss Ackerman has also preached in the chief towns of every country in Europe.

"Although I have traveled quite alone, on many occasions among semi-civilized people," said Miss Ackerman, "I have never been molested in any way."—London Daily Mail.

Murdered By Yaquis

Marauding Indians of Mexico Slay an American Citizen.

Story of the Ambush in Which a Former Pittsburgh Man Was Killed While on a Prospecting Tour.

The recent murder of a prominent American citizen by Yaqui Indians of Mexico has been promptly avenged, thirteen redskins of the tribe being hanged, fifteen banished from the country, while remaining members of the murderous gang have been imprisoned.

The expeditious work of revenge was in the hands of President Diaz of Mexico, who, desiring to avoid complications with the United States government over the serious affair and seeking an opportunity to exhibit a friendly feeling toward Uncle Sam, determined to round up the murderers, whose victim was a well known American.

MR. MARTIN ATTEMPTED TO RUN BACK. Ican citizen, H. N. Martin, formerly of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who for four years previous to his death had held the important position of superintendent of La Barranca mine of the Southern Pacific company in old Mexico.

President Diaz, with commendable energy, called out at once the Eleventh battalion, composed of the crack soldiers of Mexico. Thinking that there was no danger of pursuit or that they could not be convicted of the murder, the Indians when they were overtaken made no resistance, but halted the troops in a friendly manner and when placed under guard submitted readily to examination. Nothing was discovered by questioning or by a search of the camp.

Then another method was tried, some of the suspected Indians being tortured until they agreed to speak, and in this manner those of the band guilty of the crime were discovered. Thirteen were hanged, fifteen others were banished, and all the others were imprisoned.

The murdered mine superintendent leaves a widow to mourn his untimely death. She resides at present in Wilkesbarre, Pa. Mr. Martin had started out on a prospecting tour over the mountains with two scouts and two teamsters and a servant.

Full details of the murder were received by his widow from Carlos L. Verdugo, teamster, who says:

"We left Ortiz on Sept. 7 at 9 in the morning, the party including Mr. Martin, Antonio Encinas, Carlos Verdugo, teamster of the wagon, and Ramon Pineda, his assistant, and two scouts, Joaquin Barcelona and Jose Maria Morales. At 11:30 a. m. the next day we were attacked by about forty Indians at the place called La Lista Blanca, one and a half leagues from Punta de Agua and San Marcial.

"Upon arriving at a place called El Chilicote, near the place of the assault, I called the attention of Mr. Martin toward a flock of buzzards right in front of us and over the same road.

"These birds always follow the Indians because the latter always kill animals to eat, and the birds follow them to take advantage of the refuse of the animals. For that reason it was to be supposed there were Indians at the place I showed Mr. Martin.

"For the sake of precaution Mr. Martin ordered that the two scouts should advance about twenty meters from the wagon and send another man to whip the mules, he going at the rear guard at about two meters distance from the wagon. When I called his attention to the fact that there were probabilities of there being Indians at that place I asked him if it would not be better to return to Punta de Agua, because if they were Indians probably on the following day they would not be there, to which Mr. Martin replied that it was better to go ahead and hurry the mules, because by passing rapidly there would be no danger at all.

"So we did, but we had not got far and when we were attacked from the four sides and in a very brusque place. The first shot came from the front, hitting Jose Maria Morales, who was the one that Mr. Martin ordered to advance,

Iron-Ox Tablets

Why Suffer Longer From Constipation?

Iron-Ox Tablets have proven their merit in thousands of the severest cases, when all other medicines have failed. It is a marvelous tonic, as well as a laxative, curing Constipation and building up every part of the body to renewed health and vigor.

People who live sedentary lives, who are chained to the desk or work-table by stern necessity throughout the day, never get enough exercise or fresh air, and the inevitable result is constipation.

Constipation is a frightful disease, but it creeps upon one so stealthily, and by such slow degrees, that before the victim is aware, he is in the toils.

Constipation means misery—misery now, and misery hereafter. It takes the snap and vigor out of a man; it undermines the beauty and charm of womanhood.

Act now before it is too late. Don't wait until your condition has become chronic. Iron-Ox Tablets are an unfailing cure for constipation, or any disorder of the bowels, stomach or kidneys. The results they have produced are nothing short of marvelous.

They act directly on the bowels, but without the violent purging or griping that is characteristic of many so-called remedies. Harsh medicines that act with violence should never be allowed to enter your system. They sometimes seem to do good, but their fatal after-effects leave the sufferer in a worse state than before.

Iron-Ox Tablets not only move the bowels gently and fully, but they have a strong tonic action on the stomach, kidneys, liver and nervous system.

They restore the lost appetite, cure biliousness, correct the disordered kidneys and strengthen the nerves. This is genuine lasting benefit, resting on sound physical laws. Thousands of suffering men and women who have been cured by Iron-Ox Tablets will gladly tell you of the wonderful curative powers of this marvelous remedy.

Read these true stories of health and strength regained by the use of Iron-Ox Tablets.

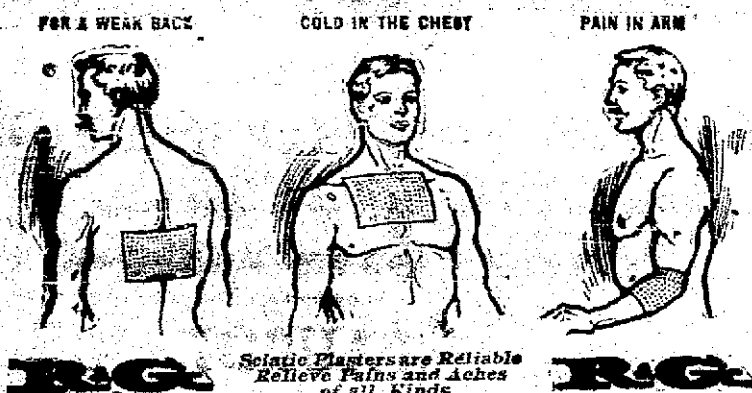

Completely Cured After Years of Suffering

"I have suffered for years with constipation, and have tried a good many remedies, but found nothing as good as Iron-Ox Tablets. I consider myself completely cured now, and am so thankful for it that words cannot express my feelings, after so much suffering, to find relief." Miss Annie Sizeland, 326 Maybury Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Doctored in Vain for Thirteen Years

"I have been troubled with stomach trouble for 13 years, have doctored with doctors in Lake Charles, La., New Orleans, La., and Toledo, Ohio, and have taken all kinds of remedies I ever heard of. Nothing did me any good, until I tried your Iron-Ox Tablets, the first time in thirteen years that I have found relief. I recommend them to all people who are suffering with stomach trouble." Mrs. H. J. Kirk, Alfred St., Delray, Mich.

The bullet struck him in the left hip, coming out through the right groin and destroying the thigh bone. At that moment Mr. Martin attempted to run back, when there appeared more Indians flanking our rear and preventing Mr. Martin going in that direction.

"We two on the wagon attempted to escape toward the right, which we found occupied with Indians, who received us with shots. We ran then to the left side, and the same thing happened to us, and thinking that we were all lost, I made a last effort, succeeding in reaching a rampart formed by a creek, and slid down in water deep to my chest.

"The last time I ran I could see Mr. Martin going in the same direction from where the first shots were fired upon us, but I did not see him any more. I crossed the creek and went to report the case to Punta de Agua. The companion of the wounded man, Joaquin Barcelona, succeeded in escaping, taking along with him the wounded man and going toward a hill.

"A short time afterward the wounded man died, and Barcelona was compelled to leave the body on the ground and went to report to the ranch El Reparo, where there is a telephone line to Ortiz.

"When he returned, I joined him, the Eleventh battalion going to the place of attack, which we reached at 6 o'clock in the evening, but the authorities had previously taken away the wagon and the body of Mr. Martin, which was found, containing two shots, one in the left lung, passing through his heart, and the other in the left eye, going through his skull. Messrs. Johnson of San Marcial took charge of Mr. Martin's funeral.

"Mr. Martin's mazo as well as Ramon Pineda succeeded in an attempt to escape unhurt and gave notice to San Marcial. The other body was picked up and buried at Punta de Agua."

The Art of Making Fondant and All Sorts of Fine Confections.

Fondant is the basis of all French cream candies. It also makes the best frosting for cakes and small cakes. The variety in candies made from fondant is almost limitless. This is produced, first of all, by the kind of sugar used in the fondant itself, as white or maple. Then the white may be varied by tinting and flavoring to correspond. The flavors in general use are vanilla, almond, rose, lemon, orange, peppermint and white. The centers may be of fondant or of nuts or French fruit, either alone or in combination. Marshmallows, gumpdrops, pieces of fruit jelly or whole candied cherries may be dipped in fondant.

To make fondant a beginner might start out with a pound of sugar (two cups) and half a cup of water. Set it over the fire and stir until boiling begins, then remove the spoon and in a few moments, with the hand or a brush dipped in cold water, wash down the sides of the saucepan to remove any grains of sugar that have been thrown up in boiling. Cover again and let it cook about five minutes. This process will tend to decrease, if not to obviate entirely, the accumulation of sugar on the sides of the saucepan. Now add one-fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar, and let the sirup cook to the soft ball stage.

To determine when this stage is reached have ready a wire skewer, standing in a dish of cold water. Remove this from the water and plunge it into the sirup and then back again into the water. Let it remain in the water about ten seconds, then push off the sugar between the thumb and forefinger, and if it can be worked beneath the water into a soft ball that will not stick to the fingers it is boiled enough.

When the sugar is done, turn it on to a large platter or on a marble or slate slab lightly dampened with water or rubbed over with the best grade of olive oil. Let it stand undisturbed until a dent can be made in the surface; then work the candy back and forth with a wooden spatula to a white, smooth, soft, creamy paste. While the paste is still soft and warm gather it together and knead with the hands as bread is kneaded; then press into an earthen bowl or a glass fruit jar and cover closely with confectioner's paper, then again with a double fold of heavy paper. Store in a cool place. After twenty-four hours the fondant is ready for use.

If the sirup be jarred while boiling, or if dip care be not exercised in washing down the particles of sugar from the sides of the saucepan, or the mixture be not cooled enough before working with the spatula, the fondant will not be smooth and creamy, but granular. To remedy this water may be added and the whole process repeated.

In dipping centers melt a portion of the fondant over hot water (double boiler), adding a few drops of hot water and such flavor as is desired. Stir constantly while the fondant is melt-

Select a piece cut from the thick part of a codfish and soak overnight in cold water. Wipe it dry, and broil it over clear coals for about ten minutes. DIVORCED WOMEN

SHOULD REMARRY

SAYS MRS. BARR.

Noted Writer Asserts That All Marriages
Are Not God-Made and Only Hope of Thousands

Of Wives Is in the Courts--What Right, She Asks,
Has Law to Add Injustice to Injury and Condemn Good Women to Lives of Toil.

New York, March 11.—The fact that Justice Traux, in the supreme court, has just broken old divorce records, disposing of eighteen cases in 234 minutes—an average of thirteen minutes to the case—has caused much interest in the subject of divorce among New York students of sociology. It has been discovered that in 65 per cent of the cases the complainants are wives.

Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, the noted writer, in commenting on the growth of the divorce evil, expresses these opinions:

"Why set men and women to choose their destiny while blindfolded by love or passion and then punish them for life for choosing wrong?
While the words of Christ—'What therefore, God hath joined together let no man put asunder'— contain a great, undeniable truth, it is no less true that all marriages are not God-made.

Divorce, the Only Escape.

"When the lust of the flesh, or the lust of the eye, or the pride of life joins man and woman, the putting asunder is an easy matter. I am far from thinking that in all such cases divorce is a proper remedy. The highest discipline of life makes us suffer for our mistakes as well as our crimes.

"If women knowingly marry drunken and brutal men, and men knowingly marry silly women—unless there follow some flagrant cruelty—they have no right to cry for release.

"There are, however, instances and frequent ones where the continuance of the marriage relation is rendered impossible. When forbearance and self-denial have been invoked all to no purpose, and all means of reconciliation have been tried in vain, when all love, affection and respect are dead, and armed neutrality or positive loathing prevails, then does divorce impose itself as the only escape.

"I cannot agree with those who argue that the prohibition of divorce would tend to add to the purity of society. Men and women cannot be made moral by statute."

LIFE IN THE SPRINGTIME.

A writer in an eastern paper has taken up the subject, "Is Life Worth Living?"

Is it?

What a foolish question!

The birds aroused you this morning. They were twittering under your window, perhaps laying plans for the summer, and discussing the little home that is to be, far up in the branches of some great tree.

When you have rubbed the sleep out of your eyes you left the house that had been almost prison through dreary winter months, and went into the park.

The great change is coming. Buds are swelling and the lilacs can hardly wait for warm breezes, the soft rain and the golden sunshine that is to transform them into masses of fragrance.

The air feels good. It is clear and wholesome. You fill your lungs with it and for the moment age falls from your shoulders and you want to shout and run.

Through the dead leaves the green grass is rising. The patches that have felt the sun are already emerald carpets. The soil is full of moisture and the brook, that was ice-bound a few days ago, purrs and trickles and makes music as sweet as the laughter of a child.

There's a bluebird and a robin—yes, dozens of them. Where did they come from? How did they know that the door had been thrown open and that Old Mother Nature was bidding them a smiling welcome?

Who knows? Who cares? It is enough that they are here and that their chirp and twitterings are signs that the deathland of winter has been removed and that this beautiful world is again to blossom and make happy the soul of mankind.—Toledo News-See.

GAME
Of Basket Ball Last Night

WAS A WALKAWAY FOR THE LOCALS—SCORE WAS 10 TO 49.

More than in their former contest with MacEnnet's White Stars. Judging by the tactics indulged in by some of the Springfield players they were determined to win by any means and on several occasions an exhibition of little prowess was threatened and only the presence of more gentlemanly disposed members of the team kept away trouble. Lima had a walkaway from start to finish and during the last half played rings around their opponents. Wahl, center for the visitors was the worst offender in rough playing and made several bad efforts to slug his Lima opponent.

Wahlmer and Griffith were the particular stars of the game, each having about the same number of baskets to his credit. The entire team however did good work and showed remarkably good form after their long rest during quarantine.

SPRING THE TIME TO CURE CATARRH.

Pe-ru-na Invigorates Mind and Body.

Hon. Wm. G. Hunter, Ex-member North Carolina Legislature, writes from the Census Office Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"The greatest family medicine ever discovered, in my opinion, which comes from experience as well as observation, is Peruna."

"The most common affliction to humankind is a bad cold. Peruna drives it out of doors, wards off catarrh, invigorates and gives fresh strength to mind and body. I give Peruna my unqualified endorsement."—Wm. G. Hunter.

Takes Pe-ru-na Every Spring.

Miss Tilly Marx, 421 14th St., Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna, as I found it very efficient in ridding my system of a severe cold and catarrhal trouble, after I had tried many other remedies without getting relief."

"I took Peruna for two weeks, when I was much better, and in two weeks more I was entirely rid of the cold and catarrh. I shall take it every spring as a tonic, as I found that it made me much better in every way."—Tilly Marx.

MISS LYDIA HERZIGER

Miss Lydia Herziger, Grand Recorder of American Daughters of Independence, writes from Neenah, Wis., as follows:

"I have used Peruna now for four years, each Spring and Fall, and it keeps me perfectly well and strong."

"I am able to continue working and do not have to take a three months' rest, as I used to do every year. This is a great comfort to me, as I was not able to afford such a long rest."

"I find that it is a great preventative for colds and coughs and soon rids the system of all disease and is an admirable medicine. I can honestly endorse it."—Lydia Herziger.

MISS TILLY MARX

MR. JAMES A. MOODY

Mr. James A. Moody, Ex-president Board of Education, Mineral Co., W. Va., writes from 311 Massachusetts avenue, N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"My family have used Peruna for several years past with excellent results and I take pleasure in testifying to its superiority as a remedy for catarrh."

"Every spring that dreaded disease will show up in my family and we always turn instinctively to Peruna to ward it off."

"It has never yet failed, and I never lose an opportunity of recommending it to my friends."—James A. Moody.

Spring Catarrh.

Almost every one has come to believe that spring is a season that brings derangements of the body dependent on blood impurities.

This belief is an old one, is nearly universal, and has arisen, not as the result of the teachings of the medical fraternity, but has been learned in the bitter school of experience.

Nervous Depression.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of spring is a fertile source of blood impurities.

There are general lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feelings, with irregular appetite, and sometimes loss of sleep.

That Tired Feeling.

That tired feeling, which is the natural result of the depressing effect of winter weather immediately after the invigorating cold of winter, quickly disappears when Peruna is taken.

The Proper Remedy.

Peruna meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all their varied peculiarities. Peruna invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feelings, restores the normal appetite and procures regular sleep.

Do Not Delay.

Get a bottle of Peruna when the first languid feelings make themselves apparent in the spring. Take it according to the directions on the bottle. Continue this treatment through the first months of spring.

This course of treatment is no experiment; it is as positive in its results as any fact of science can be.

A Spring Tonic.

Almost every body needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as

Mrs. Winnifred Power, an artist, who, in a recent letter from 246 7th St., Portland, Ore., says:

"I am pleased to speak a good word for Peruna, as I found it an excellent tonic and spring medicine and very effective in ridding the system of cold and catarrh."

"About two years ago my system was all run down in the spring and I thought I would try and see if Peruna would be of any assistance in bringing back my health and strength."

"I found that it was splendid and all the medicine that I needed. In a little over a month I was well and did not need to take any more medicine."

"I shall recommend it to every one in need of a tonic, and know that I have only to take a few doses of Peruna when I take a cold and I will soon be over it."—Winnifred Power.

Nature's Assistance.

Spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective.

A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will cure old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years.

A Word of Advice.

To those who have been afflicted with chronic catarrh we wish to say that the spring season affords you a splendid opportunity to get rid of your disease.

It may be you have been afflicted for several years; you may have tried different remedies. Perhaps you have become discouraged.

Now Is Your Opportunity.

This failure was during the winter months. But now is your opportunity. Nature comes to your assistance at this season.

Just help her a little and she will bring you out of the quagmire in which you have been floundering so long. Give Nature a little assistance and her struggles will be in vain.

A Typical Case.

Geo. M. Fillmore, late 1st Lieut. 8rd U. S. Artillery, writes from 909 L St., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I brought forward from winter into spring a sickening case of catarrh which was making existence miserable for me, until I was induced to try a bottle of Peruna."

"An immediate improvement gave me hope, if not relief. I kept up taking Peruna and it has so strengthened and relieved me that I am now confident of a cure. I heartily endorse Peruna for catarrhal affections and as a tonic for their weakening effects."—Geo. M. Fillmore.

A short course of Peruna now will be just in time. During the month of April you will find the strategic time to rid yourself of chronic catarrh, one of the most persistent, stubborn diseases in the whole list of human ailments.

After you have tried it you will say Peruna is positively the best spring medicine you have ever used.

A great many years of extensive trials of this remedy in this class of derangements have demonstrated that there are no failures.

Thousands of Testimonials.

Thousands of cases might be quoted in which Peruna has rescued people from the ravages of spring catarrh, and put them on a good, solid foundation of health.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is constantly receiving. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Foulards are coming now in double widths, which, with the advent of very full skirts and large sleeves, are at once economical and practical. Their designs are manifold, and the shades and range of colors more beautiful than ever.

Belt, stocks and four-in-hands are shown in wide brims. The belts have the large buckles, and the stocks either have a small bow tie of the brand or a bow of taffeta. Belts come in every style and material, from the grade of shirred satin to the embroidery-incrusted one of Japanese manufacture. Leather is still used in many cases, and the buckles are more wonderful and various.

NEW DESERTS EASILY MADE
Hints for Hostesses Which Can Be Readily Followed.

New desserts are always in demand. Here are some that need but little care in preparation and which are most appetizing.

Date Patty Cakes.

Mix a third of a cupful of soft butter with one and one-third cupfuls of brown sugar. When partly creamed break in two eggs and beat the mixture until very light. Then add a cupful of milk. Add one and three-fourths cupfuls of sifted flour in which has been mixed two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat to a smooth batter, then stir in half a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg. Add half a pound of dates which have had the stones removed, cut small, and mixed with a little flour. Then beat hard for two or three minutes. Bake in small fancy patty pans, in a moderate oven. When cold cover with vanilla icing.

Chocolate Marzipan.

Pound one-half pound of blanched almonds to a paste, adding one pound of confectioner's sugar, a scant tablespoon of powdered cinnamon, three tablespoonfuls of grated unsweetened chocolate and the whites of four eggs; form with the aid of a very little flour into small wreaths; lay them in a shallow baking pan, being careful that they do not touch, sprinkle with grated coconut and bake slowly until dry and crisp.

Sweetmeat Pudding.

Five eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, one cup powdered sugar, one cup peach or other jar jam, one-half cup melted butter, half a nutmeg. Bake quickly in buttered baking dish. When partly set, draw to the oven door and sprinkle over it a half cup or more of chopped blanched almonds.

NATY VEILS FOR AUTOS

Some natty automobile veils are shown with shirred top and bottom. The usual circular wire arrangement secures the fullness at the top, and the lower edge is shirred on a cord and fastens with a hook and eye at the back. The front has a transparent shield for the eyes, which is necessary parade, if this is liked. Serve at once.

Creamed Oysters.

This viand is similarly prepared to the pan-fried oysters so far as quantities are concerned, adding one-half cup of cream to the mixture when the oysters are done. Blend one-half of a tablespoonful of cream and stir for about two minutes. Add this to the oysters, and just before serving add two tablespoonfuls of good sherry wine. This will make a rich creamy mixture which is very nice.

RIBBONS FLUTTER EVERYWHERE ON THE SPRING AND SUMMER TOILETTES.

There is a rampant riot of ribbons over every fad and feature of the new toilettes. Everything from the tip of the parasol over maid's well coiffed head down to the tip of her shink black pointed shoes, there is a ribbon fluttering somewhere and everywhere.

Charming parasols of quite an open mesh net are shown with the net entirely covered with ribbon ruffles. In some the ribbon are of graduated widths, while in others just the one width is used throughout; but in either case the effect is charming. The new sticks are all long and graceful-looking, and these are in accord with the costumes of the Directoire period which are making such a furore for themselves in the early spring models. Others, again, are in shaded effects, the light ribbon at the tip and running darker to the edge, where a velvet ribbon often gives the smart finishing touch.

Another exquisite sunshade is in alternate rows of rose petals and silver gauze ribbon. The imported model showed white roses, and one post-Easter bride has ordered this for herself and a reproduction with pink petals and a big pink stick to the parasol to be carried by the maids in her bridal procession.

On the charming shapes that the milliners are showing the chapeau is not considered complete unless a knot or bow or chon of ribbon is tucked in somewhere. There are whole hats covering the wire frame, and quite oftentimes the sole trimming to these is a huge Arabian bow in velvet. Those quaint-looking ties are quite as often of ribbon as they are of tulle or chiffon, and assuredly they are far more durable and chic than are those perishable materials.

One of the prettiest of the new fads are the bretonne girdles to wear with the chapeau and shirred suits. The chapeauists and shirred dress for the girls doubtless started this pretty fashion; but whatever its origin may be it has "caught on" with a perfect furor of success. The broad sash ribbons are best for these. Those leatherbone frames that one purchases in the stores, and especially those that lace up the front, make an excellent foundation. The bretelles rise from those on either side of the front, pass over the shoulders, and they may or may not cross in the back. Handsome buttons and buckles of all sizes and genres are used to trim the bretelles, and quite as often as not there is a short sash, or else a position effect in the back. Of course it goes without saying that the girle shows the fashionable dip point in the front.

Upon all the dressy frocks, from the little girl's pretty frock to the exquisitely dainty gown of the bride-maid, the sash makes itself a most prominent feature. Handpainted sashes are among the luxuries of the present fashions—for which head expensive—shops are showing quaint little ruffles made from the same painted ribbon. A monogram in brass or in gold, just the kind they put on those mannish-looking watch fobs, is quite the smartest thing for the delicate ribbons handle.

They are beautiful ribbons painted in all of the Dresden designs and running anywhere from a quarter to three-quarters of a yard in width. Either a satin or a velvet edge is to be preferred, and these are worn with the Swiss point in the front, two small upstanding and three pendant loops in the back, and three or four irregular ends floating between the waist and the hem of the gown.

These pert, upstanding frills that appear on so many of the French gowns are at their best in ribbons. These are knife pleated, and then the edge is pulled to make them flare prettily. They top flounces and folds, they decorate cuffs, they make charming collar and shoulder pieces alternated with lace, and for that matter, they make whole gowns in themselves.

For the ribbon gown the foundation is most usually a light net of strong and firm mesh. Shaded effects are charming in these, and a color scheme that is vastly approved abroad has the faintest hint at the top of a corsage, and the gamut of shadings running down to the hem of the skirt. The ribbons are accordion or side pleated, and a rich appearance is gained in the use of an occasional dounce of velvet ribbon to contrast with the silk or satin plisse ribbons. Powdered sashes are used with these, thus giving a note of lightness and airiness to the girlish simplicity of the ribbon frock.

The silken gown of today is reminiscent of those of a century ago in more ways than one, but in its later and more delightful manifestations it has taken to itself a luxury, a smartness and an expensiveness that is in accord with its traditions.

In the novel presentations of the silken gown a double-width weave of silk is necessary to the successful development of the design, and to this end the silk weavers have bent their best efforts with the result that the one-loom double-widths in crepe de chine, as well as in other silken weaves, are delightful to use. The present-day maker of the modes abhors seams and joinings of pleatings, and there is no silk or cloth too wide for him to sketch and plan his designs upon.

Full, fuller and fullest describes the gown of today, just as it did those of grandmother's time. But the "barrel" skirt, of the same width from waist to hem, the scant and tight bodice topping it have no place whatever in the scheme of things of the present. The fullness must all be there, to be sure, and be distinctly visible, but it must be the fullness that will reveal the contour of the figure rather than disguise its alluring graceful curves and lines.

The foundations, both bodice and skirt, are fitted to the figure without fault, but with many seams. Then over this is draped and puffed and frilled and shirred the yards and yards of material necessary to make the result, right up to the moment in the matter of style.

The bodices of all the new gowns continue to be full and puffy, and as much material as the figure will stand—always with due consideration to the matters of height and grace—is cleverly manipulated. Seams must not be of the observable order, and fastenings must be invisible.

While the draped bodice is the latest and most fascinating fad from Paris, where the silken gown is concerned it is a feature that must be handled with extreme care if just the correct chic effect is to be attained.

Masses of drapery upon the corsage make for a foreshortening effect that, but few figures can stand with grace, and those who are of rare necessity such as possessors of rare slenderness, lightness and grace. Upon all others it is difficult to handle while the short and stout figure should pass the draped bodice by with averted eyes lest she become fascinated by its prettiness and be moved to clothe herself in like fashion.

down the center front and back and caught tight and flat to the sides. This draped portion extends from the bust to the waistline—the new high-bust corset must be worn with this—and drop over a deeply pointed belt, which gives a delightful appearance of length and stenderness to the figure. The lines of the skirt too, are long and plain, so that everything is done to make the figure appear tall and slender, in spite of the crosswise masses of draped silk across the body.

Bouillonne band are still in high vogue, and their foreshortening effect—for they, too, fall under this ban—is obviated by making lengthwise insertions between the bands. This gives an effect of length while enhancing the beauty of the work.

The sleeves are a very prominent point of the modern silken gown, and yards upon yards of silk, even in the double widths, will be needed for their fashioning. Single puffs are the exception rather than the rule, and two, three, four or even five of them usually wind their puffy way down the arm from shoulder to wrist. An effect of elbow sleeves is often produced by scooping the puff at that point, and having a deep cuff that flares upward smartly—all the new lines turn upward, in contradistinction to those of last season, which were all of the downward, drooping style—and just as often as not there are little upstanding frills of plisse silk or ribbon employed to help out this pert upward tendency.

Real laces are lavishly used for those exquisite braces where the design is executed in velvet upon a satin in ground, and all of the colorings are of the dull and blurred order. The latest make the best result in these, and the ground is always in the faintest possible tint. Panels, flounces, bretelles, separate and separable motifs are some of the forms those real laces take, and the bolder and more effective the design the smarter and more chic the result attained.

You Can Be Cured.

Dr. H. C. Carter, M.D.,
New Britain, Conn., April 2, 1904.

When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes two days of every month, and had intense bearing down pains. My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was "washed out" by bed at all.

A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so kind in his praise that I told her that I would take it to please her.

I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

WINE OF CARDUI

Mrs. Finnegan had little hope of relief because she knew that every time she had those spells of menstrual suffering with attendant bearing down pains she was weaker. And every month the pain was growing more severe.

But Mrs. Finnegan was cured by Wine of Cardui. She is now so well that there are few women who would not be glad to have the health she has. And any woman who has those dreaded bearing down pains can have the same relief.

You can be free from menstrual irregularities if you take this pure vegetable wine. Why don't you take it when you see what it has done for others? Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

The Gymnasium.

Its aim—Through the great variety of exercises possible in a well equipped gymnasium, to place in possession of the individual those qualities, health, strength, muscular control and endurance which are so essential to the equipment of useful work. While these results are being accomplished, the individual is also having an enjoyable time, for it is a well known fact that better results are secured through exercises in which there is a large amount of pleasure derived.

Its scope is almost unlimited. There are very few boys or men who are so perfectly constituted that the gymnasium work will not do them good. It is especially beneficial to those whose occupation is of a sedentary character and in which very little physical exercise is received. It is a well known fact that lack of exercise causes retrogression or weakening of the muscular system, and in this age of increased mental or nervous positions and a consequent decrease in positions demanding hard physical labor, artificial exercise as it is sometimes called has become an absolute necessity. Many men have been made to realize the truth of the saying that "He who will not take time to keep healthy, will have to take time to be sick." One item then in the scope of the gymnasium is to supply exercises that are conducive to the retaining of health. This class forms the largest majority of the membership of the Associations in this country. Many men, however, either have not realized the need of exercises or neglected to take it until they found themselves well along on the road toward a physical breakdown. With regular and systematic work under careful supervision, men in this condition are often able to regain that which was lost. It is then within the scope of the gymnasium to help men to regain the health and strength which by neglect or otherwise has been lost. It is not necessary to enumerate all of the points within the scope of the gymnasium work, a few will suffice to show that the time and effort put into the gymnasium work is not so much time wasted. Gladstone realized the benefit of this when he wrote, "All time and money spent in training the body pays a larger interest than any other investment." A few other items may be mentioned such as exercises to cure indigestion, constipation, sluggish circulation, headaches, etc. Also to correct faulty carriage, such as stoop shoulders, round shoulders, flat chest, protruding abdomen, small chest expansion, reduced lung capacity. Also to equalize the one sided development caused by occupation.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

If you are healthy and strong, try to remain so.

If you are physically weak, try to gain health and strength.

If you are troubled with any ailment which exercises will cure or alleviate, then exercise.

If through your occupation you have secured a one sided development, try to correct it.

If you happen to be clumsy there is nothing which will develop muscular control quicker or better than the gymnasium work.

The classes are again being held—the spring term having begun Thursday night.

Why suffer with headache, constipation, stomach, kidney and liver troubles, when Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will cure you? No money wanted unless you are cured. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. H. F. Vorkamp.

MARSH STREET PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BY PROFESSOR LULL AND MR. PICKETTE WAS A DELIGHTFUL TREAT.

While there was not a large audience present at the Market Street Presbyterian church last night to witness the presentation of Rebekah, a sacred play, as presented by Professor Lull and Mr. Pickette, assisted by Mrs. Charles A. THE WELL KNOWN SPECIALIST. FRANKLIN MILES, M. D. LL. B. WILL SEND HIS BOOK AND $2.50 WORTH OF HIS PERSONAL TREATMENT FREE TO ANY READER.

There never was a better opportunity for persons suffering from diseases of the heart, liver, stomach and kidneys to test free a remarkably successful treatment for these disorders. Mr. Miles is known to be a leading specialist in these diseases and his liberal offer is certainly worthy of serious consideration by every afflicted reader. This opportunity may never occur again.

His system of Personal Treatment is thoroughly scientific and immensely superior to other methods. It includes several new remedies carefully selected to suit each individual case and is the final result of twenty-five years of very extensive research and great success in treating these diseases.

Each treatment consists of a curative electric tonic tablets eliminating pills and usually a plaster. Extensive statistics clearly demonstrate that Dr. Miles' Personal Treatment is at least three times as successful as the usual treatment of physicians or general remedies sold at the stores.

Col. E. B. Spelman of the 9th United States Regulars, located at San Diego, Cal., says: "Dr. Miles' Special Treatment has worked wonder in my son's case when all else failed. I had employed the best medical talent and had spent $2,000 in doing so. I believe he is a wonderful specialist. I consider it my duty to recommend him." "For years I had severe trouble with my stomach, head, nervousness, sinking spells and dropsy. Your treatment entirely cured me."

Mr. Julius Keister of 350 Michigan Avenue Chicago, testifies that Dr. Miles cured him after ten able physicians had failed. Mrs. R. Trimmer of Greenspring, Pa., was cured after many physicians had pronounced her case hopeless.

As all afflicted readers may have his book and $2.50 worth of treatment especially adapted to their case free we would advise them to send for it before it is too late. Address: Dr. Franklin Miles, Dept. G, 715 to 724 Main Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

But Only in His Mind's Eye.

Kenton Man Was Here Searching for His to be Father-in-law.

THE WEDDING WAS TO HAVE OCCURRED THURSDAY BUT THOMPSON DISAPPEARED.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE HAD LARGE SUM OF MONEY ON HIS PERSON AND FOUL PLAY WAS FEARED.

THE KENTON END OF THE STORY RECEIVED THIS AFTERNOON EXPLAINS THE MYSTERY.

L. F. Wheeler, appeared at police headquarters yesterday afternoon in a very excited state and told a story bordering on the sensational, leading the officials to believe that one Henry Thompson, supposed to be a wealthy cattle buyer had met with foul play.

According to Wheeler's story Thompson had been located at Kenton for some time coming there from Montreal, Canada. He had bushels of money and the two had recently made large purchases of cattle that they agreed to purchase the stock, but the money had not been paid over. At this juncture, March 8th, last Wednesday, Thompson left Kenton, saying he was going to this city to get his horse and buggy which he had left with a man named Ward living near Lima. He had on his person at that time, or is supposed to have had, money to the amount of $3200. Not hearing anything from him, Wheeler came to this city and securing a horse and buggy at the McIntock livery barn located a man named Ward but no trace of Thompson was found. It was at this juncture that Wheeler communicated with the police. He feared that his partner had met with foul play and in verification of his fears gave the name of a Kenton man who he alleged had recently threatened to "fix" Thompson, because Thompson knew too much about his previous marriage.

Wheeler also stated that Thompson was to have married his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Flynn, last Thursday, and preparations had been made for the event.

THOMPSON LOCATED.

A Letter Was Received From Him Written in Buffalo.

Kenton, Ohio, March 11.—special—Henry Thompson, who came to this city sometime since from Montreal, representing that he was a wealthy stock buyer and was to have been united in marriage to Mrs. Elizabeth Flynn, of South Kenton who he had met through the mails, has left for parts unknown, the last heard from him was a letter postmarked Buffalo, written yesterday. Plans had all been arranged for the wedding last Thursday, even to the securing of a minister to tie the knot. On the day before, last Wednesday, accompanied by his intended and his son-in-law, he made a number of large purchases, displaying checks to the amount of $3200 and leaving his bride-to-be said he would step around the corner to the bank and have the checks cashed. Instead he left the city over the Erie railroad for Buffalo, and the letter received yesterday explained that the bank had refused to cash the checks and that he concluded to run down to Buffalo and make good and that he would return in a short time.

PRESIDENT ZIMMERMAN

Of the C. H. & D. Railroad Says That Road Has No Connection With the Detroit Southern.

(Cincinnati Enquirer) Eugene Zimmerman, president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, returned home yesterday from New York. He stated there was absolutely no truth in the reports that the Duke of Manchester was going to become interested in the railroad.

Regarding the Detroit Southern, Mr. Zimmerman was emphatic. He said: "I desire to state that the C. H. & D. has no connection whatever with the Detroit Southern and is in no way interested in that road." Sometime ago Mr. Zimmerman stated that H. B. Hollins and himself had secured the Detroit Southern. Yesterday he said he was not interested in the sale of the property. The Enquirer representative asked him if he had sold out his interest, the reply of Mr. Zimmerman being that he was not interested in the property and was not in the personnel of the officers that might be selected, "nor is the C. H. & D.," he added.

No statement has been made in these columns that the C. H. & D. has any interest in the Detroit Southern, but the one emphatic point that President Zimmerman desired brought out was the absolute lack of
